

COMING TO THE COLUMBIA.

"Twin Beds" At Columbia.

"Twin Beds," the comedy which will be played at the Columbia Theater Saturday night, December 2, is a humorous and novel story of life in a crowded apartment. It has played two years in London, one year in New York, six months in Australia and will soon be presented in Paris, Petrograd, Rome, Berlin, Vienna, South America, South Africa and Japan.

The play itself is a laughable story of a young man greatly in love with "home life" and his pretty wife. His one great worry is his wife's fondness for striking up acquaintances and entertaining them. In particular, he objects to a portly Italian tenor and his wife of Amazon type. His disgust finally inspires him to move to another part of town, which gets him into so much trouble that he only barely escapes it in time for the final curtain.

"Y" TO ENTERTAIN STUDENTS Will Have Social and Dinner for Those Who Miss Holidays.

The Y. M. C. A. has made plans to entertain students who remain in Columbia during the Thanksgiving holidays. A social will be held in the association building Wednesday night from 8 to 9 o'clock, after which a Thanksgiving program will be given in the auditorium. A Thanksgiving dinner will be given under the auspices of the Y. M. C. A. at the Virginia Grill Thursday noon for all University men. A program of talks and music will be given after the meal. Tickets will cost 50 cents.

To Kill Steer for Farmers' Banquet.

A meeting of all the students interested in Farmers' Week was held at the Agricultural Building yesterday morning to make preparations for this year's meeting. A committee on program and banquet was appointed. The banquet menu will be of the products of the University farm. A prize-winning steer will be butchered and served.

WILL HOLD A POULTRY EXHIBIT*Optimism Selects Chicken Coops For A Happy Resting Place.

Optimism reigns in the chicken business. This was evidenced yesterday afternoon at a meeting of the Boone County Poultry Association in the Courthouse, where plans for the Poultry Exhibit to be held during the second week in January were discussed.

"The committee hopes to make the exhibit unique and magnificent in scope, quality and composition," said Miss Elizabeth Hodge, secretary of the association.

"One unusual display," continued Miss Hodge, "will be the exhibits of the children of Boone County. Last summer the association gave fifty settings to the children of the county, and their accomplishments in the chicken business will be on display at the poultry show."

Poultry breeders of the county are urged to send in their entrance certificates to the secretary if they wish to be listed in the catalogue, which goes to press December 1.

Another meeting of the members was announced for 7:30 o'clock Friday night at the courthouse. At this meeting the building for the exhibit will be chosen.
